About Us

Established in 1982, the Florida Center for Instructional Technology (FCIT) has been a leader in working with educators to integrate technology into the curriculum. With its location in the College of Education at the University of South Florida, FCIT is available to assist pre-service teachers who graduate from USF each year. Partnering with the Florida Department of Education, FCIT provides many instructional resources for Florida's teachers and students.
Faculty Support

The Faculty Support Team’s mission is to support all College of Education faculty in effectively integrating technology into their courses. In addition to weekly technology workshops held in the Laptop Lounge, our team of friendly, knowledgeable staff is available daily to answer your technology questions and help you find creative ways to include technology in your courses to support your pedagogical goals. Our staff is comprised of graduate students representing various departments throughout the College of Education.

Laptop Lounge

How Can FCIT Help Students

Presentations—We can review your presentation and provide feedback that will help you create engaging, visually appealing slides that effectively present information by incorporating the latest multimedia learning principles. Use our projector in the Laptop Lounge to practice your presentation so you can deliver it with confidence.

Videos—Our video studio is equipped with professional lighting and backgrounds for creating sophisticated video effects. We can advise you on lighting, audio, and other technical aspects of recording video, and show you the most effective ways to edit video with a number of different programs.

Podcasting—Our sound booths provide a quiet environment where you can record professional level audio for video voiceovers, podcasts, and more. Our expert staff can show you how to use free programs to edit audio and export it in formats that can be delivered over the Web.

Technology Integration—We provide expertise, experience, and knowledge to help you best infuse new media and concepts into your lesson plans and curriculum.

Online Presence—A professional looking, easy to use website can help you make the best impression possible with prospective employers. We can review your website to make sure it incorporates usability and accessibility principles that will make it easily accessible to everyone online.

Florida Center for Instructional Technology

We are located in the College of Education at the University of South Florida, FCIT partners with the Florida Department of Education to provide leadership, instructional materials, and support services to educational institutions with regard to the integration of technology into K-20 education. The faculty members and graduate students in the USF Instructional Technology program contribute to many of the products created by FCIT. The Center also supports College of Education faculty and students and through the Laptop Initiative.
